

Risto Vasilevski

Front-end Developer

Hello world!

Hi, my name is Risto. I'm a self-taught front end developer who is passionate about creating functional and effective websites. I am always eager to learn new technologies and techniques, and am inspired to never stop exploring the field of front end development. My career change to front end development has been a challenging and rewarding journey.

The future depends on what we do in the present.
